CONGRESSMAN ROBISON AGREES WITH ADVOCATE

In regard to Fruit Growing in Knox County

Washington, D. C. Nov. 17, 1919

My dear Mr. Burman:

Your letter to hand and I am enclosing you herewith list of bulletins issued by the Department of Agriculture on horticulture and fruit growing. I shall be glad to send you any that you may select. I am very glad that you are taking such an interest in this work and hope that we can get the whole County interested, as this would be a source of revenue forever to the people of Knox County. If it was only followed in an intelligent way. We have a good County for growing fruit of all kinds and a market can always be had for same. In my opinion good winter apples would be most profitable, because they are better keepers and a ready sale can always be found for them in the city markets. I shall be glad to send anyone information in regard to orchards, varieties of fruits and care of same.

With kindest regards, I am,
Yours truly,
J. M. Robison.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES

Before the United States entered the war there 37,000 government employees in Washington. When the armistice was signed in November of 1918 there were 116,000 men and women employed in Uncle Sam's offices. A year later, at the present time, there were 102,000, showing that but 14,000 have been dropped from the rolls and that the government offices have far from returned to their pre-war basis. Each time that the figures are scanned by Congress it "goes up in the air" and the cry is heard that clerks are being unnecessarily held on their jobs and that too much money is being expended. Investigations have been made, but little or nothing has ever come from them. It is predicted now, however, that when the next appropriation bills are considered, the pruning knife will be used far, wide and deep, which would result in thousands of employees looking for other jobs or returning to their homes in the States.

TAXES DUE

Your taxes are due. Remember the interest and penalty come on Dec. 1st. Call and pay before that date and save. R. P. Black, Sheriff

THE ADVOCATE PRICE

We have received perhaps three protests since we put up the price of the Advocate from $1.00 to $1.50 per year. People generally understood that, due to the price of paper, a newspaper could not be issued with profit at $1.00 per year. While we expect to continue our present $1.50 rate it will be of interest to our friends to know that "news print paper" has gone "up again" and is selling in some sections for four times the old price. Our economy will come in in cutting out superfluous matter when it conflicts with our local news space, giving the latter precedence. The amount of "dope" on every subject under the sun that seeks publicity in the weeklies is astounding—all free, gratis, for nothing.

PARENT-TEACHERS

The Parent-Teachers Association met Friday, Nov. 14th in Mrs. Lulu H. Smith's room at the High School. The teachers were almost all present the other part of the membership was poorly represented, only fifteen being in attendance.

Mrs. A. W. Hopper in the absence of the president presided and the general sentiment was that she should continue to do so.

The matter of federating with other such organizations thruout the State was informally discussed. The Committee on Nomination of Committees made a full report.

There was a suggestion made and adopted that Oct. 31st be always a general reception day. That the last Friday before Christmas be our Community Christmas tree. That Washington's birthday be our annual book shower.

The next meeting will be Friday December 12th at 2 o'clock and all members are urged to pay their dues at that time.

PRINCE OF WALES AT MOUNT VERNON

It was a great day for the old colored man who guards the Tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon, when the Prince of Wales visited the historic shrine to place a wreath of flowers upon the marble vault that encloses the remains of the First President. The colored caretaker is a descendant from one of the slave families which was owned by Washington and later freed by him, and has jealously guarded the tomb for some twenty years. He has opened and closed the gates to the tomb for many distinguished visitors, among the most recent being King Albert of Belgium, but never before had he been called upon to perform a duty that the Prince of Wales asked of him. The Prince entered the tomb, bareheaded as was proper, but before entering placed his hat, cane and gloves in the hands of the colored official. Even a President had never done that. The story is now related by him to all visitors at Mt. Vernon, and he will likely tell it as long as he lives and presides at his task.

JURY DISAGREES

The trial of James Woollum and William Lefevers, charged with the killing of James Neal, which was held in the Circuit Court at Middleboro the past week, came to an end on last Saturday, when the jury reported that it was unable to reach a verdict, and was discharged by the Court.

It is reported that the jury stood eleven for acquittal and one for conviction.

The killing of Neal occurred at Kettle Island about two years ago. Lefevers, who was an officer, deputized Woollum to assist him in arresting Neal and bringing him to Pineville. Neal got away from the officers and started toward his home, and on his failure to stop, when ordered to do so by the officers, they shot him.

The defense claimed that Neal was on his way to his home to procure a high power rifle.

Both Woollum and Lefevers have been out on bond, and they were again released on bond, until such time as the case is again called for trial.—Pineville Sun.

IF THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH EVER WAKES UP, LOOK OUT SATAN!—"BILLY" SUNDAY

And Now "The Episcopal Church is Awake" Says Dr. Stires, Eminent New York Divine.

"If the Episcopal Church ever wakes up—look out!"

Crouching grotesquely, his face close to the platform, shaking his fist in the direction of the nether regions, "Billy" Sunday, the Baseball evangelist, once hurled this warning to the Evil One, while thousands, crowded into a great tabernacle, watched.

"That moment is near—is here!"

This is the answer to "Billy" Sunday's implied challenge. It comes from the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas' Church, Fifth Avenue, New York; and one of New York's most noted preachers. He is a member of the Joint Commission directing the Episcopal Nation-Wide Campaign, and director of the Every Name Campaign, in New York.

A campaign to raise $62,000,000 in the Episcopal Church in one day—December 7; to recruit 1,500 new workers; to arouse every member to help the Church play its great part, grandly, in this age of reconstruction by expanding every phase of its activity in the next three years—upon this, which is the purpose of the Nation-Wide Campaign, Dr. Stires bases his answer to the evangelist.

In effect, Dr. Stires says to the world:

"The Episcopal Church is awake."

"The Nation-Wide Campaign is urgent," says Dr. Stires, "because of the greatness of the need of this hour. I speak not of the missionary needs of the Church, but of the needs of all the world. The Church holds a position of power and influence. It must use its power to meet these needs. For the suffering, injustice and wrong of the past is still here today, crying out to us. Children are still being slain by cruel Herods."

"Roger W. Babson states that the labor problems of our time can only be

HON. CALEB POWERS INVITED TO SPEAK

Hon. Caleb Powers is in receipt of an invitation from D. L. Fredrick, President of the Southern Society of Valparaiso University, Ind. to be one of the speakers of national reputation who shall address the student body under the auspices of the Southern Society. The meeting will be held in the large auditorium of the school which seats about 2,500 people.

Mr. Powers is the "father" of the Southern Society and a former student of the University and for that reason his presence is especially desired. He hopes to be able to attend.

METHODIST LADIES AID

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church met with Mrs. James S. Golden last Friday. Plans were discussed concerning the Dollar Social, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. Jesse Taggle Friday, Dec. 5th, at 7 o'clock. Both men and women are invited to attend this social and all members of the church are especially urged to be present. Plentiful refreshments will be served, so don't forget to bring your dollar and come. The date for our Annual Christmas Bazaar was set for Thursday, Dec. 18th. The place will be announced later.

After the business was concluded the hostess served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be the Dollar Social at Mrs. Taggle's.

HURT BY AUTO

Will Hemphill, son of County Superintendent of Schools Eh Hemphill, was badly hurt last Friday, when, in jumping from the rear of a wagon he stepped in front of an automobile driven by Elmer Mitchell, the wheels of the machine going over the lower part of his body. For a time it appeared as tho he might not recover but happily he is now doing nicely.

In the auto was Mrs. John A. Treadway on her way to the cemetery to choose a burial lot for the remains of her husband and the shock of the occurrence was added to that of the loss by death.

No blame attaches to the driver who is known as one of the most careful chauffeurs in town.

WILL BUILD HOME IN EARLY SPRING

The new farm home for the Kentucky Children's Home Society is practically assured, according to the officials who are checking up the returns from the schools all over the state. Louisville, Owensboro and many of the counties have subscribed more than their quota, and if the remaining counties that have not sent in their returns will complete the amount allotted to them, the plans for the group of farm cottages will begin early next spring.

"With the large number of school districts without teachers this fall, we are unable to reach these children, consequently it will be necessary for the other schools to go beyond their quota if we succeed," George L. Sehon, the superintendent said.

"Jefferson County was apportioned $55,000 which has been over subscribed. Unless the other counties raise their quotas this amount will lie dormant until the shortage can be made up in some other way, which will be very difficult, so it is imperative for every county to go over the top. This would enable us in the early spring to proceed with our building plans, which when completed will make it possible for us to reach every child needing a home and protection."

COAL SUBSTITUTES

Coal is not the only fuel. The people of the country will soon have this cheerful information placed thoroughly before them in a campaign of education conducted by our Uncle Samuel. While several branches of the government are in operation dealing with the present conditions of the coal situation, one department, that of the Oil Division of the Bureau of the Interior, has started the wheels in motion to bring about as complete a change from the use of soft coal as possible. The East is to profit by the experience of the West where oil is the chief fuel. The oil wells of the West and Southwest are daily producing hundreds of barrels of oil and more wells are being drilled every day and the supply is looked upon as unlimited. Oil is used as a fuel in the West and Southwest in locomotives, in factories and in residences. Oil burning has never been practiced East of the Mississippi to any great extent because of the steady supply of soft coal. The first big change to be considered is the gradual elimination of the coal burning locomotives of the railroad administration. It is to be insisted that only oil burning engines be constructed in the future. Factories, office buildings, department stores, all large users of soft coal, are to be shown how to make the change from coal to oil as a cleaner and better fuel and at no greater cost than at present if as much. Then the campaign will be broadened to reach the average householder. If the department is given the hearty support of Congress, it is convinced that soft coal can be curtailed more than half the amount now used.—Independent Press.

DEMISE

The death of Mrs. L. G. Morris, of Gray's Knob, Harlan County, Ky. sister of Mr. A. M. Decker, occurred at the Infirmary, Pineville, on Saturday, Nov. 22nd. The funeral service was held at the Decker home Sunday at 2 p. m. Rev. A. H. Harris officiating. Interment was in the City Cemetery.

The cause of death was an operation for tumor.

Mrs. Morris was the last living sister having preceded her across her across the river of death. Mr. Decker is now the only living member of the family.

A husband, two daughters and a son are left to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother.

DEMISE

We regret to announce the death of John H. Treadway on Friday, Nov. 21. He was born in Kentucky May 7th, 1866, and was 53 years, 6 months and 14 days old when called away. Death was due to cerebral hemorrhage. A wife and several children survive him. The funeral was held Saturday, Rev. R. L. Cress conducting the burial service.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing difficult breathing and other discomforts. Real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs. This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which acts on the catarrh germs in the blood. If you wish medical advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to Chief Medical Adviser, 42 Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

SHIRIFF'S SETTLEMENT AND FINANCIAL STATEMENT

At the first of the year 1914 the County was heavily indebted and there were outstanding claims for which no provision had been made to pay, amounting to approximately $72,000.00. Since that time forty-nine suits have been brought in the Knox Circuit Court and six suits in the Knox Quarterly Court against the County, and judgments have been rendered against Knox County amounting to $22,963.82, with an unpaid interest of $6,592.00 interest to Nov. 1, 1919. In the trial of the aforesaid forty-nine cases in the Circuit Court the court rejected and held as illegal $14,896.25 of the claims paid on.

There is now pending in the Federal Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky no action by the Greenberg Loan and Bridge Co. against Knox County for approximately $18,000.00 for steel bridges and culverts claimed to have been furnished by said company to Knox County. D. W. Shusher, Clerk.

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke makes a whale of a cigarette!

Copyright 1919 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

YOU certainly get yours when you lay your smokecards on the table, call for a tidy red tin or a toppy red bag of Prince Albert and roll a makin's cigarette! You'll want to hire a statistical bureau to keep count of your smokestunts! Why, you never dreamed of the sport that lies awaiting your call in a home rolled cigarette when it's P. A. for the packing!

Talk about flavor! Man, man, you haven't got the listen of half your smokecareer until you know what rolling 'em with P. A. can do for your contentment! And, back of P. A.'s flavor, and rare fragrance—proofs of Prince Albert's quality—stands our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch! With P. A. your smoke song in a makin's cigarette will outlast any phonograph record you ever heard! Prince Albert is a cinch to roll. It's crimp cut and stays put like a regular oal!

Prince Albert upsets any notion you ever had as to how delightful a jimmy pipe can be! It is the tobacco that has made three men smoke pipes where one was smoked before. It has won men all over the nation to the joys of smoking.

REPUBLICANS SAVE SERVICE

Chairman Kahn of the House Military Affairs Committee has introduced a bill "for the establishment of an aeronautical experimental development and engineering plant for the Air Service." The passage of such a measure, and the recent action of the Senate in adding $15,000,000 to the funds already appropriated for the Air Service, will go far toward preventing its disorganization which for a time seemed imminent. Republicans of both houses are determined that the United States shall not lag behind other nations in the matter of aerial development.

TUESDAY CLUB

The Tuesday Club met in regular session at the home of Mrs. W. B. Minton. Mrs. J. R. Tuggle was the leader for the day assisted by Mrs. J. S. Miller.

This being Thanksgiving season, program was All-American, with Americanization of the former who comes to us as the center thought. Every member of the club took part in the program with tribute to America from different views.

During the social hour contests were put on, familiar scenes in the United States and the Thanksgiving dinner in the form of comedies. The prizes were won by Mrs. H. J. Adfield and Miss Florence Campbell.

The only decorations used were potatoes, corn and pumpkins, all being indigenous to this continent. The Faculty ladies of Union College, Mrs. Lulu B. Smith and Mrs. J. A. Gray were the guests of the Club.

DR. J. S. LOCK SPEAKS

Dr. J. S. Lock spoke at the Court House Monday night on the subject of a Public Health Nurse and Red Cross Seals, urging the people of Knox County to provide a County nurse and also the necessity of purchasing Red Cross Seals so that there may be funds for the stamping out of tuberculosis which takes each a big toll of life in Kentucky. The program for every county is a good doctor and public health nurse supplemented by travelling clinics.

Examinations would be made, physical and microscopic. The nurse will enter the home and give expert advice in the care of the sick and in prevention. School crusades and the examination of every school child will be effected, sanatoria will be established for those afflicted. Democrats and Republicans both favor State assistance.

$180,000 is needed in the sale of Red Cross Seals for Kentucky. Let each of us do his part in helping thus showing a true, humane patriotism.

LOAN OF ARMY REIFES

The House has passed the bill authorizing the loan of the Army rifles to organizations of honorably discharged soldiers. Specific mention is made in the measure to the "American Legion", followed by a general clause extending the privilege "to all other organizations of former discharged soldiers, sailors, or marines of the United States Army and Navy."

J. J. Fox was in Knoxville last week on business.

CARD OF THANKS

We beg to express our heartfelt thanks for the kind sympathy and helpfulness showered upon us by our friends in the loss of wife, mother and sister.

CONGRESSMAN ROBSON EXPLAINS ROAD SITUATION

Congressman J. M. Robson is in town from Washington on business during the recess of Congress.

Last week he called at the Road Department in Washington to learn if the Road Department at Frankfort had approved and sent to Washington any of the plans for roads for Laurel, Whitley, Knox and Bell Counties. He was advised that no plans had been approved and sent in or request made by the State Road Department for Federal aid for any of these counties.

Mr. Wiley, as State Road Commissioner, promised early last spring that he would approve and send in these plans for Federal aid for the roads in these counties, and he confirmed this promise from time to time through the summer until he resigned and Governor Black appointed Mr. Boggs, of Richmond, Ky., as Road Commissioner to succeed Mr. Wiley. In September Mr. Robson addressed a letter to Governor Black and Mr. Boggs in which he pointed out that many Democrats and Republicans in Eastern Kentucky felt that we were being discriminated against in the matter of Federal aid and especially urged Governor Black have his appointee Mr. Boggs to approve the plans that had been sent in by these counties and send them to Washington with a request for Federal aid for the roads in these and other counties, but neither of them answered the letter and they have not as yet approved or sent in any plans to Washington. Because of their failure to do so, we have been unable to get Federal aid.

Under the law no county can get Federal aid for any road unless the road is approved for Federal aid by the State Road Commissioner at Frankfort and sent to Washington.

He wrote another letter last week to Governor Black and Mr. Boggs and pointed out to them that while the 11th District last year paid twice as much taxes into the Federal treasury as some other Congressional districts in Kentucky, yet we had received none of the more than $5,000,000 that has been appropriated by Congress to aid in road construction in the State of Kentucky and he has urged them to do this act of justice to our section of the State before their terms of office expire. Under the promise of Mr. Wiley to approve the roads in these counties for Federal aid and acting under his direction, the officers of these several counties have given a great deal of time and the counties have expended considerable money in getting up the plans for these roads. We can do nothing with these matters at Washington until the State Road Department at Frankfort acts as indicated above.

The 10th District has received the same treatment as our District. Our failure to get Federal aid lies at the door of the officials at Frankfort.

We hope to get better results from the administration of Mr. Morrow. He has promised to give Eastern Kentucky a square deal in this matter.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Four of our High Schools girls, Blanche and Caroline Scent, Ethel Miller and Katherine Richardson, chaperoned by Edward Scent, went to Flat Lick last Wednesday to a dinner party. The midnight train was late and the next day the pupils were afraid the "sleeping sickness" had broken out in Barbourville.

Prof. Belcher made a flying trip to Williamsburg Friday.

The Seniors have received their rings and you can tell them now by the way they hold out their hands for inspection.

This is examination week and all the students are looking glum, their only light in the darkness being the thought of the four days holiday we get at Thanksgiving time.

We regret to announce that Miss Georgin Trendway, one of our Seniors, has been compelled to be away from school for some time on account of the sickness and death of her father.

Prof. Belcher has asked all the students to walk on the sidewalks instead of the middle of the streets. This will avoid accidents.

The music pupils of Miss Amis are preparing for a recital the second week in December.

EMANUEL NEWS

Miss Dora Collins was a guest of Miss Edie Peaveley Monday night.

Bertha and Edna Ray spent the day in Rossland Sunday.

Mrs. J. F. Engle spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. J. A. Ray.

Cornelius Pickard, who has been away for the last nine months arrived at Emanuel Monday the 25th and attended the M. E. Church. His appearance was a surprise to every one.

Mrs. H. A. Bolton, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. H. C. Fredrick, for quite a while, has now joined her husband in Indiana.

Rev. Walter Hughes and several of the church members from Rossland attended church here Saturday night.

Mrs. James Peaveley, who has been visiting at Barbourville for some days, has returned.

Most everyone is expecting to have a turkey and cranberry sauce for dinner Thanksgiving.

Miss Bessie Thompson was in Barbourville Tuesday.

Miss Bessie Williams has been the honored guest of the Thompson girls for the past week.

Church still going on here at the M. E. Church but expected will close Tuesday night.

Mrs. Amelia Ray, who has been sick for the past year is improving a little.

Last Saturday night at 10 o'clock a burglar tried to enter the Harry C. Adams home on Manchester St. the attraction being a newly killed pig. Six shots shocked the burglar's nerves and he vamoosed with out the meat.

Camel Cigarettes

They Win You On Quality!

Your enjoyment of Camels will be very great because their refreshing flavor and fragrance and mellowness is so enticingly different. You never tasted such a cigarette! Biting is eliminated and there is a cheerful absence of any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor!

Camels are made of an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos and are smooth and mild, but have that desirable full-body and certainly hand out satisfaction in generous measure. You will prefer this Camel blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Give Camels the stiffest tryout, then compare them with any cigarette in the world at any price for quality, flavor, satisfaction. No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they will not tire your taste!

A Kentucky Woman's Experience

Paducah, Ky.—"It is a pleasure to me to recommend a medicine that has done me so much good as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I have taken it as a tonic during pregnancy, I have been such an enthusiast over 'Favorite Prescription' and the benefit I have received from it that I have not only recommended it to my friends but to my own daughters as well and I have never known of a case where it has failed in giving the results desired."

MRS. CORA SMALLMAN, 208 N. 5th St.

A Nervous Wreck

Louisville, Ky.—"I was certainly a miserable wreck before I took Dr. Pierce's medicines. I was nervous, my back ached all the time and I had intense pains. When I refused to submit to an operation my doctor told me about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Lotion Tablets and although I had very little faith in any medicine and thought I was going to die, I got these medicines at the drug store. My recovery was so rapid and complete that it surprised the doctor; even he thought it would be just temporary relief, but I am thankful to say that it is apparently a permanent cure. I have had two children, a niece, both of them 'Favorite Prescription' babies, for I took this splendid tonic while my health was fine and I had practically no suffering. I cannot praise these remedies too highly. I only hope my statement will be the means of many other women being restored to perfect health by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his Lotion Tablets."

MRS. NETTIE BURNS, 208 N. Campbell St.

Women who are worn out, who are nervous or dizzy at times, should take that reliable, temperance, herbal tonic, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, in liquid, or in tablets. Send for Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

GET READY FOR "FLU"

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Houseless Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

Why do not those ginks who are criticizing the dress of our lovely women do something really constructive and design a dress that will please said lovely women and themselves also?

Not Always to the Strong

By OWEN OLIVER

(Copyright.)

The rain was coming down in sheets, and the wind took me off my balance as I turned the corner of Alexandra road. Some one ran against me as I righted myself. It was George King. "Where are you going?" he growled. "To Hardy's," I answered gruffly. "Same as you!" There were a dozen Hardy's in Sheerness, but he knew that I meant old Hardy, the pilot.

His cutter had gone down in the afternoon, and they said that the old man would go that evening. He had been sinking for a long time.

We walked to their house in silence. There was blood between us on account of Jessie Hardy. Jessie's aunt, who kept house for them, opened the door and let us in. The tears were rolling down her wrinkled old cheeks, and her apron was crumpled with wiping her eyes.

"He's been taking on awful," she told us. "He'll feel it," I said, "about the cutter."

"The cutter? No, no, lad. We haven't told him of that. It's about Jessie. Lying gossip as nobody else wouldn't take notice of; but you know what he is when he gets a thing into his head."

"Who's been saying things about Jessie?" I asked, fiercely. The old woman stared at me.

"You don't mean that you ain't heard?" she cried.

"Folks as have anything to say against Jessie aren't likely to say it to me," I told her.

"Nor me," said George. "You know as she left Russell's shop sudden, a little before he got his berth on the lightskip at the Nore, and gave up. They've set it about that he sent her away for taking things!"

"Who says it?" I shouted; and George clenched his fists. He wasn't one for words.

"Sh!" She raised her hand. "You'll wake her. Cried herself to sleep, poor girl. The things he's said to her! Always suspicious, he was, and ready to take anyone's word against his own flesh and blood."

"I suppose," George said, "the old man wouldn't listen to us?"

"Not if you was angels dropped from the sky! There's only one as he'd believe, he says, and that's Russell himself."

We looked at one another and shook our heads. Russell was on duty aboard the lightskip.

"If it wasn't for the gale," George muttered, "I'd fetch a line from him; but no boat couldn't do it."

I went home, put on a waterproof, and stole out quietly for fear my mother should ask questions.

As I was nuzzling my boat a nun in a black dress passed under the lamp. It was George King. I knew that he was going to his boat.

I hauled the dingy down the slope, fastened the mast in its place and put up the smaller jib and the mainsail with all the reefs in. Then I pulled and pushed the dingy over the shingle.

She gave a lurch and shipped a sea before I got hold of the tiller.

We were certain to be swamped when we got into the full force of the storm, I thought, and I had almost made up my mind to turn back, when I saw King's boat to leeward.

So I decided to go on. King's was a larger boat than mine, with watertight compartments at the head and stern, and a center-board, and he was a seaman by profession, while I was only an amateur.

The wind lulled for a moment and I got the boat almost dry. Then a gust came and the jib broke loose.

Crash! I caught wildly at something—the keel of my upturned boat. Another wave almost tore me off.

Suddenly the boat was whirled away from me. I tried vainly to swim in my heavy clothes, but swallowed the water in great gulps.

I was almost unconscious when a hand seized me and pulled me up. I clung to the gunwale of King's boat, and he hauled me in.

I laid helplessly on the deck how till he got a bottle of rum from under his seat and gave me a drink.

Then the moon came out and showed the lightskip straining at her moorings close by. We found a little shelter under her lee, and huddled. Some one looked over the side and threw a rope. King caught it, made it fast and climbed by it.

When he had reached the deck I followed.

I found Russell below talking to King. He started when he saw me. "Newman! You're here, too!" He glanced at George. "You didn't tell me he was with you."

panion, I followed him; but he waved me fiercely back.

"Let me come, too," I begged, "for the love of heaven!" The wind was so fierce that I had to shout in his ear.

"I'll have no one to come between me and her," he declared with a snarl. "You can't do no good, Jack," said Russell. "Yes, yes! I know how it is!"

He put his mouth to my ear. "He'll go down, and you'll have her."

He always liked me. "In course"—he turned to George—"you'll tell her as Newman came, too?"

George laughed hoarsely. "In course," he said. "I won't."

He seized the rope and slid down into the boat. Before they could stop me I followed him.

When I was half way down he saw me and took out his knife. He gashed through two of the three strands, but I tumbled on top of him as the rope parted, and the boat dashed away with a jerk and a swirl. A big wave broke over the well and almost covered us as we grappled with one another.

"Let go, you fool!" I shouted. "If we go down, what's the use of your letter?"

He let go and rose. "Promise me you'll not see her tonight," he begged.

I struggled to get free, but he held the knife close to my throat. "Promise!"

"No!" I shouted furiously. He raised the knife and I closed my eyes. Then he let me go.

"Get up," he said. "I give you your life a second time."

"What do you want me to do?" I asked at last.

"Stay away from her tonight."

"Let her think you've dared what I haven't?"

"Yes."

"It isn't fighting fair."

"We fought fair and I won."

I clenched my fists savagely. "I wouldn't want her if she liked some one else best."

"Mate," he said, "I don't like taking it. I'll think ill of myself all my life for taking it; but I'm going to do it, if you let me. You'd be a dead man if it weren't for me."

"I give you the chance," I said. "I fight fair. It's life, mind, and more; and it wipes off what I owe you."

"Aye—We'll run in under the breakwater yonder."

It was almost calm underneath, and we ran softly on to the shingle. It was pitch dark on the beach; but the lamp was alight on the wall, some 40 yards away.

A group stood under it. One of them was a woman. My heart gave a jump.

"It is Jessie!" I cried under my breath.

"You promised," he reminded me sharply.

"I've promised—For God's sake take her away from here."

"I'll take her home," he said.

Then he ran up the beach, and I stayed behind in the shadow. Before he was half way to the wall she ran to meet him.

"Jack!" she cried, "is it you?"

There was silence for a moment. Then he spoke.

"Jack's down by the boat," he said, "and I'm here."

And she came flying down the shingle into my arms!

MANY USES FOR PATCHOULI

Employed to impart distinctive odor to Indian Shawls—Highly Popular Throughout India.

A few years ago real Indian shawls bore extravagant prices, and purchasers distinguished them by their odor. In fact, they are perfumed with patchouli. The French manufacturers had for some time successfully imitated the Indian fabric, but could not impart the odor. At length they discovered the secret and began to import this plant to perfume articles of their own make. From this origin the perfumers have brought it into use.

The powdered leaves are put into muslin bags to prevent cloth being attacked by moths. The leaf is largely imported by Mogul merchants. It is used in India as an ingredient in tobacco for smoking and for scenting the hair of women, and the essential oil is in common use among the superior classes of natives for imparting the peculiar fragrance of the leaf to clothes.

The Arab merchants buy it chiefly, employing it for stuffing mattresses and pillows, asserting that it is very efficacious in preventing contagion and in prolonging life.

SIMPLICITY AND BEAUTY IN DAINTY NEGLIGEEES

The average woman may have little use for very elaborate negligees, but for daintiness, loveliness of color and simplicity she has an instinctive longing. These always appeal to her and specialists in the manufacture of negligees understand this—so that the bulk of their output combines just these elements. "Negligee" is a term that includes a very wide variety of garments—inspired by the garb of many peoples—for it is in the seclusion of home that women may indulge themselves in the fanciful. Japan and China contribute much and we have interpreted their ideas to suit ourselves besides buying generously of their productions. France is an exhaustless source of inspiration and we use its wonderful creations all the time, adopting and adapting ideas according to our own needs.

Our needs demand at least ten negligees that are simple and pretty, daintily made in lovely colors, to one that is elaborate.

Morning jackets and coats of taffeta silk in gay colors, to be worn with lace-trimmed petticoats are popular, because they embody the things we like best, and negligees of the character of the two shown here are in constant demand. All these appear in flower-like colors—pink, rose, blue, yellow, lavender, light and vivid greens, occasionally cerise and rich reds. Imagine the negligee shown at the left of the picture in any of these lovely colors and you will find yourself deciding as to which one would suit you best. In this model a long close-fitting and plain slip of box-plaited crepe-de-chine is the easiest thing that ever was to slip into. Over it there is a short kimono-like jacket—a slip-over garment—with scalloped edge buttonhole with embroidery silk, and small sprays of embroidered flowers scattered over it. It could hardly be simpler—or prettier.

The negligee at the right has a straight under-slip of charmeuse satin with a long-draped overgarment of the same material edged with lace. The material is gathered at the shoulders and slides and arranged in a drape that widens at the hips and narrows toward the bottom. It has the effect of a long coat with ribbon that crosses the front below the waistline, to confine it, but this is a one-piece negligee easy to get into and as pretty as any one can ask for. Autumn brides will be interested in these fine examples of American designing and so will every other woman who has eyes to see them.

Hats That Interpret Autumn

If, in all the varied styles in millinery, there is a single point in common, it is that fall hats interpret the season. They are rich, brilliant, generously trimmed, many of them superb and unusual, and they are refined.

Three ultra-smart examples pictured in the group above may have been selected as exponents of the mode, but three hats selected at random would probably convey the same ideas. The hat at the right of the group is made of black satin ribbon, bordered with gold. The barette is mounted to a band of plain satin ribbon, overlaid with two rows of gold-edged ribbon, and this same ribbon makes the plaited poupon at the left. Worn with this hat is an overblouse of silk voile made to match the hat by the addition of a collar and wide band of the embroidered ribbon. This hat might be named October.

A pretty velvet turban, with a hint of India in its shape and style, is of velvet that makes itself a background for clusters of grapes. These are made of satin, but then grapes of velvet are just as effective on autumn hats and account for some of the most beautiful. Sometimes the colors are like those of nature and often they are entirely different. Besides the grapes a generous trimmer has allowed this rich turban a bow of narrow gold ribbon near the back.

A hat and a veil of equal importance, at the left of the group, is to be classed among the unusual and pleasing things that the autumn shopper always runs into. Perhaps this veil was made for the hat, or the hat was made for the veil; at any rate the design shows them to be inseparable. This small turban has a crown of taupe pashm velvet and a brim of plain dark brown velvet that supports the veil. Straps of velvet, fastened down with metal ornaments, are brought down over the veil at the front, back and sides. Veils and hats have had their fortune cast together on many a hat this fall, where each would fall without the other, but to gether they make a success.

TOOK FOXES IN NEAT TRAP

Probably Only Instance on Record Where Youngsters Were Caught in a Horse Blanket.

How four foxes were caught in a horse blanket is a quaint tale told by H. A. Huttmacher in the Hunter-Trapper of Columbus, O.

"I happened to be driving south of Rapatee, Ill., with the implement dealer of that town, making business calls on several farmers of that section, when, to my surprise, I saw on a very steep hill in the distance several young foxes playing about as if no human was near," says Mr. Huttmacher. "My partner and I decided to try our luck at catching them, so driving on a little farther, we tied our horses and set out across the field after them."

"When we reached the hole, they were all up over the hill chasing each other, so telling my companion to go around the hill and chase them my way I threw a horse blanket over their hole and waited. As they came rushing for the hole I raised one end of the blanket just enough to hide myself and at the same time form a trap of it for them to run into."

"They all got to the hole about the same time, when I threw one end of the blanket over them, the other end being over the hole, in the excitement I succeeded in catching all four in the folds of the blanket."

"We went back to the buggy and drove to town, my companion taking two of the foxes and I two. Possibly the explanation of our good luck is the fact that the foxes were not much more than six weeks old when captured."

WHERE THEY FOUND THE HAT

Joe's Use of Brother Agent's Headgear, to Say the Least, Had Not Improved It.

Attorney General Palmer instructed the New York branch of the department of justice recently to gather all the German propaganda evidence it had accumulated to prosecute enemy aliens during the war and forward it to Washington, where it could be stored in the state department vaults. The books, papers and documents were placed in a wooden case five feet high, four feet wide and two feet deep, which was put in a special baggage car accompanied by two special agents of the department.

One of the agents became tired of sitting watching the case and said he would take a nap on it. He turned the case over on its side and laid down on it, using his handbag as a pillow, while the other laid on the floor of the car alongside the big box. In the morning Special Agent Joe, who slept on the box, awoke and found Agent Bill searching all through the car for something. He asked what he had lost and Bill said that he certainly had a hat when he entered the car but it was missing. They could not find the hat and finally turned the case right end up and there lay Agent Bill's new fall derby under it mashed perfectly flat. Tableau.

Regulating Immigration.

Until 1882 congress did not make any law restricting foreign immigration. On the other hand, everything was done to encourage immigration without regard to its character or quality. In 1882 a law was made excluding escaped convicts, idiots and persons likely to become a public charge. Since then laws have been passed excluding persons afflicted with any dangerous contagious diseases, persons guilty of serious crime in their native country, anarchists, paupers and professional beggars. Foreigners deterred by law are sent back to the country from which they came. During 1919 the report of the commissioner of immigration shows 5,256 aliens, morally, mentally or physically below the standard were returned, 4,257 of whom were deported from entering, the remainder having been arrested and expelled.

To Breed Rabbits for Their Fur.

An organization known as the Beaver club has been formed in London, England, to breed rabbits for their fur. The scheme is being run on co-operative lines.

The blue beaver and the Havana rabbits are the strain which the club intends to rear. The fur of the blue beaver is of lavender blue and is long, lustrous, fine and silky. That of the Havana is of a rich chocolate color and is thick, fairly long and fine.

It is hoped to produce from these rabbits natural furs the color of which will not fade.

Women Build Roads.

Five hundred Armenian women employed by the American Red Cross have built 100 miles of stone roads and reconstructed several steel bridges in this section within the last four months, an Associated Press dispatch from Marash, Mesopotamia, says. The roads were rebuilt in order to facilitate transportation of Red Cross supplies. There were no male laborers to be employed, so Capt. Edward Bickel of Seattle, who had charge of the engineering work, engaged the women, who were glad to have employment of any kind.

Wastage of Coal.

In a statement to Pennsylvania householders urging saving of anthracite ashes, the Anthracite Operators' association says mining experts estimate that an average home wastes about three buckets of coal a week by not sifting, the loss a month being about $2.

HOW DRAGS MAINTAIN ROADS

Simple and Inexpensive Device Well Adapted for Producing Smooth and Uniform Surface.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The drag is a simple and inexpensive device for maintaining certain types of roads which when wet become rutted under traffic and which become firm on drying out. It is also well adapted for producing a smooth and uniform surface on newly constructed roads in which the material used for surfacing is earth, earthy gravel or some similar material. It is essentially a maintenance implement and its use in construction is distinctly secondary. Roads which are very rocky or very sandy cannot be materially improved by its use.

Properly used at the right time the road drag performs four distinct offices. First, by moving at an angle to the traveled way it tends to produce or preserve a crowned cross section. Second, if used when the material of the surface is not compact and hard, it tends to reduce ruts and other irregularities in the road by moving material from points which are relatively high to those which are relatively low. Third, when used after a rain it accelerates the drying out of the road by spreading out puddles of water and thus increasing the surfaces exposed to evaporation. Fourth, if the surface material is in a slightly plastic state, dragging smears over and partially seals the so-called pores which naturally occur in earthy material, and thus makes the road surface more or less impervious to water. The advantage of this smearing action of the drag will be more readily understood if a sample of ordinary earth is examined under a magnifying glass. Such an examination will show that the earth closely resembles a sponge or honeycomb in structure, and the desirability of closing the open pores will be readily apparent.

If used improperly or at the wrong time, the drag may do actual injury to a road. Dragging a very dry road, for example, serves to increase the quantity of dust and may do additional damage by destroying the seal produced during previous dragging. If, on the other hand, the road is very wet and muddy, the irregularities in the surface are likely to be increased rather than diminished by dragging.

BETTER ROADS OF TOMORROW

They Will Be Built Much Wider and Stronger Than Many We Have Now in Various States.

With the adoption of efficient methods of construction and maintenance for all the roads soon to be built by the various states, and also for those built by the large federal appropriation for interstate roads under the federal aid act, our roads of tomorrow should be of maximum value to everyone. They will be built much wider and stronger than many we have now, and of the most durable materials, for they will have to bear a greatly increased motortruck traffic if the growth in use of such trucks in the last few years is any criterion.

NEED MORE GOOD HIGHWAYS

One of Benefits of War is Sure to Be Increase in Thoroughly Improved Roads.

One of the benefits of the war is sure to be more good roads in this country, and in other parts of the world where highways have not been generally and thoroughly improved. We used to say "better roads," but now there is a large mileage so good that if the rest were brought up to the best American level, nothing more could reasonably be asked. Many roads in America are quite worthy of comparison with any in Europe. All we need is more of them, and then still more until the country is grid-ironed and attired with such highways.

Good Roads Available.

When the people of the towns and country unite to build and maintain roads then will good roads be available.

Tractor on Highways.

Avoid running on highways with the tractor in summer unless deep lugs are removed from the wheels or tracks.

As a Last Treatment.

In a general way, the best treatment for a skin condition is to use a good skin cream.
